

Rules and Procedures at Chef Alyssa's Kitchen During COVID-19 Pandemic

- Cooking tables have always been set for 4 participants around the table with each guest sharing the tasks to complete the full menu together of 3-4 dishes. To take extra precautions during this time, we are recommending that sign ups be in groups of 4 so the participants at the table know each other and are comfortable working together.
- We have recently heard from many guests that they would be comfortable working with others. We now have options to join a table of 4 to work with other people. Please note, just as in all CAK events each guest will be sharing equipment, tools, prep and ultimately the food they've made during the class with their tablemates.
- Each table is distanced at least 6ft apart from one another.
- Each participant is required to wear a facemask covering their mouth and nose while cooking and participating in the class before sitting down to eat.
- Do not enter the facility if you're experiencing any COVID-19 related symptoms. All guests will be temperature checked with an updated waiver signed upon entry. Staff members are temperature checked each day.
- Sinks are available around the classroom and hands should be washed frequently.
- When eating, drinking or tasting during a cooking class, please be mindful of those around you and take a step back from the table to provide extra space.
- Use the disposable spoons provided for tasting food at the cooking stations.
- Anything used for tasting or eating must be put in its proper place by the participant who used it, including but not limited to:
 - Placing your tasting spoon in the trash

- Placing your drinking cups, silverware, plates in the bus tub
- Place bottles and cans in the recycle
- While fun, a cooking class is an optional activity. In order for the class to take place, other guests and staff members may be within 6 feet of participants.
- If you are unable to wear a facemask due to medical reasons you will not be able to participant. Please refer to cancelation policy.
- Please be kind and respectful to others. We are all in this together.

Cancelations

If you were you to have to cancel or reschedule your pre-paid tickets prior to the event, our regular class cancelation procedures would be in effect. These procedures are:

Outside of 1 week eligible for refund or credit.

Between 3-7 days, 50% refund OR full credit if spots are filled.

Less than 72 hours prior to class, no refund or credit will be given. If spots are filled, guests are able to receive a credit to a new event. If your spots are not filled, guests are able to receive two virtual classes per participant.

If within 1 week of the cooking class there were a cancelation or rescheduling due to illness or exposure related to COVID-19 and your ticket (s) cannot be filled by another guest, then each participant would be eligible for two virtual cooking classes. Unfortunately, without your tickets to the cooking class being filled by another guest there cannot be a credit given nor redemption to any other service provided by Chef Alyssa's Kitchen. There are not exceptions to this policy as each class is limited capacity and specifically designed for each participant. Thank you for your understanding.
